Update: 10/11/11

The Chicago Human Rhythm Project is a 501(c)3 organization.
All donations are tax-deductible to the fullest extent allowed by law.

JUBALEE

Jubalee is the Chicago Human Rhythm's annual fundraising event supporting performance, education and community outreach programs. Jubalee celebrates the legacy of William Henry Lane, who was the first African American minstrel dancer allowed to perform on the white minstrel circuit in the 1840's. His excellence earned him the title of JUBA!, which is a Zulu word meaning "king" and CHRP honors his memory and accomplishments as a part of this annual celebration.

The event will be held Monday, November 7 in the Jay Pritzker Pavilion complex in Chicago's world class Millennium Park. The event begins with a cocktail reception in the elegant Pritzker choral room followed by a concert on the Pritzker stage featuring leading percussive arts stars from Chicago and the world. The concert is punctuated by the JUBA! Award ceremony which has honored greats like Gregory Hines and most recently, Billy Elliot, The Musical. This year, CHRP will be honoring the contributions of Donna LaPietra & Bill Kurtis, among others. The evening concludes with a light dinner and dessert buffet and silent auction where guests can meet the evening's performers and honorees.

For 22 years, Chicago Human Rhythm Project has presented American tap and contemporary percussive arts in world-class concerts, classes and after-school outreach programs that foster an appreciation for diverse cultural traditions. In 2010, over 15,000 people attended our concerts, 3,500 people participated in our classes, and we reached 7,500 K-12 youth through our community outreach programs.

As a sponsor of this benefit, you will have an opportunity to associate with one of Chicago's most dynamic cultural institutions, a major advertising campaign, and a truly one-of-a-kind event. Benefits include naming rights, program ads, tickets to Jubalee and other CHRP events, logo placement, verbal recognition, premium or preferred seating and a reception with the performers.
